Welcome to the 2017 People Matter Survey. This information kit is designed to provide you with the information you need to run the survey.

1.1 Your role

The role of the survey coordinator is to:

- provide the Victorian Public Sector Commission (VPSC) and ORIMA Research<sup>1</sup> with all necessary information by their due dates. This will avoid any additional costs
- prepare survey invitations and reminders according to your chosen method of survey invitation
- promote the survey in your organisation to maximise survey responses and participation
- communicate to staff that the survey and the reporting of results will be conducted in a way that protects the anonymity of respondents
- inform your leaders and management about the survey and encourage their promotion of the survey before and during the survey period
- monitor participation and engage with management throughout the survey period
- become familiar with all tasks required to run the survey, as outlined in this guide, such as providing your organisation composition listings, email invitations, etc.

1.2 Survey administration portal and participation form

You can use the following web-based portal to confirm your organisation's participation, make other survey arrangements, to access your survey links and to monitor response rates:

<https://www.orima.com.au/vpsc/organisation/>

ORIMA will provide you with a username and password by email once your organisation's head or HR Director officially nominates you as a coordinator using the portal.

1.3 VPSC contact details

Please contact us if you have any questions regarding the survey. You can also contact us if you would like to make amendments such as updating the number of employees within your organisation (to ensure an accurate response rate calculation), updating your contact details or naming a new survey coordinator.

Phone: (03) 9651 6200

Email: people.matter@vpsc.vic.gov.au

1.4 Employee helpline and ORIMA Research contact details

If there are any technical issues with the survey or if you require paper surveys or have additional queries, please contact ORIMA directly using the hotline details below.

Hotline phone: 1800 654 585

Email: peoplesmatter@orima.com

Employees can also use the hotline, during the survey period, if they require any help with the survey.

---

2. TIMELINE

---

This section outlines the key dates you will need to meet to ensure a successful survey. A nominal fee (calculated on a cost recovery basis) will be charged for any missed deadlines.

If you are unable to meet a deadline, please email us at people.matter@vpsc.vic.gov.au

2.1 Finalising your participation form and survey arrangements

Invitations to participate in the survey will be sent to the head of your organisation and human resources director on Monday 30 January.

The participation form will need to be completed and submitted by Friday 10 February, to indicate whether your organisation is participating or not.

Please check to ensure:

- your organisation's chosen survey period has been provided (a two to three week period between 24 April and 26 May). If you suspect that you may need to extend your survey period in order to achieve an acceptable response rate, we recommend you choose a start date closer to the 24 April. Ensuring your survey period does not exceed the survey window VPSC offers will avoid any additional costs.
- your contact details are accurate
- you have selected the option to attend a survey coordinator workshop, if required
- that the number of employees in your organisation is correct, to allow accurate calculation of the response rate during the survey as well as in your result reports
- the option to use personalised survey links, invitations and reminder emails has been selected, if required
- the option to add your organisation's structure and composition in the survey is selected, if required

2.2 Other key pre-survey deadlines

The survey administration portal will show whether your organisation has chosen to use:

- organisation structure/composition questions in the survey
- personalised survey links and invitations

Organisation's composition and structure questions need to be submitted by Wednesday 8 March. Details on how to do this are shown in Section 3.

If your organisation has opted to use personalised survey links, the following information needs to be submitted four weeks before your survey is due to begin:

- a contact list containing each employee's first name and email address
- customised text to be used for survey invitations and reminder emails, if required

2.3 Key survey timings

Provision of data in advance of the timelines is encouraged and will assist the VPSC in responding to any issues in good time. Any late submissions and/or changes after this date will incur a fee to recover the extra survey programming and resourcing costs resulting from the changes.

June	Approximately three weeks after the survey window closes, your organisation will receive its benchmark report.

2.4 Decision tree and key dates

3. ORGANISATION STRUCTURE/COMPOSITION LISTS

If you are a large or medium sized organisation, we recommend that you opt to have survey results broken down by employee groups.

Examples of employee groups include:

- division/branch/work units
- workplace locations e.g. campus
- occupations e.g. profession, indoor/outdoor split

The participation form on the survey portal will show whether your organisation has opted to include organisation structure/composition questions in your survey.

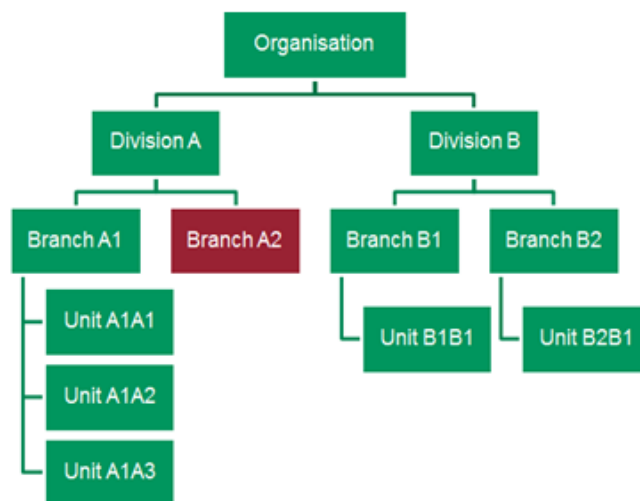

If this option has been chosen, please use our Excel template to fully specify the groups required:

www.vpsc.vic.gov.au/people-matter-survey/

The completed file needs to be provided to the VPSC by email before 8 March. Any late submissions and/or changes after this date will incur a fee to recover the extra survey programming and resourcing costs resulting from the changes.

3.1 How to construct your organisation structure

The following diagram provides an example of an organisation hierarchy.

This hierarchy will need to be translated into a list, using the provided template, as shown in the table below.

Division	Branch	Unit
Division A	Branch A1	Unit A1A1
		Unit A1A2
		Unit A1A3
	Branch A2	Not Applicable
Division B	Branch B1	Unit B1B1
	Branch B2	Unit B2B1

In this example, employees will be asked the following questions during the survey:

- (1) Please select your division (i.e. Division A or B)
- (2) Please select your branch
- (3) Please select your unit

3.2 How to construct other composition groups

To add a question for another employee group relevant to your workforce, please follow the approach in the example below.

Example

Question Text	Response Text
Please select the site you currently work at	Site A
	Site B
	Site C

3.3 How composition data will be reported

Your overall organisation results report (see Section 9) will provide the percentages of respondents within each of the submitted groups.

You'll also receive an employee group report for each group with at least 10 survey respondents. Please note that no demographic information is provided with employee group reports to prevent the possibility of identifying employees.

4. SURVEY INVITATIONS AND REMINDERS

All employees should be invited to participate in the survey. By encouraging everyone to participate:

- all employees will have the opportunity to provide feedback through the survey, conveying a message of inclusiveness
- your organisation will have more credible and reliable results that accurately reflect your workforce's views

There are different actions required of survey coordinators for email invitations and reminders depending on whether you use generic or personalised links to the survey. The survey portal will record the invitation method chosen by your organisation.

4.1 Generic survey link

How this option works

If your organisation chose to have this option, then you will need to email a generic survey link to all staff on the first day of your survey period. The link allows anyone to access the survey and complete it. A survey participant will also be able to use an automatically generated password that will allow them to re-continue the survey at a later time if they are unable to complete the survey in one session.

All organisations will be offered a generic link to their survey by default.

What you need to do

- Prepare your invitation and reminder emails before your survey is due to start, using the sample emails within section 12.
- Test the survey link provided by ORIMA a week before your survey is scheduled to begin. Please check:
  - the survey works in your IT environment; and
  - the survey includes content you expect, including all survey modules and any extra organisational structure and composition questions (All responses created during testing will be deleted before your survey starts.)
- Ensure your survey invitation emails are sent out on the first day of the survey period. We also recommend:
  - that the invitation email is sent by the head of your organisation
  - broadcasting this on your intranet site, if applicable.
- Send reminder emails encouraging employees to complete the survey. We recommend that you send a reminder one week after the start date and a final reminder a day before the survey closes. More reminders should be considered if the survey response rate is low.

4.2 Personalised survey link

How this option works

On the day your survey opens, an invitation email from ORIMA will be sent to each participant containing a unique link to the survey. ORIMA will also send a reminder email to those who haven't completed the survey, further into the survey period.

The email addresses used in this process will not be stored after the survey period ends, and will not be linked to survey responses, in order to protect the privacy and anonymity of employees.

You will also be provided with a generic survey link. This means you can give employees access to the survey if they have accidentally deleted their personalised email link, or if their correct details were not supplied to VPSC in time.

What you need to do

- Prepare your invitation and reminder emails before your survey is due to start, drawing on the sample emails provided in the Appendix.
- Four weeks before your organisation's selected start date send an email to: people.matter@vpvc.vic.gov.au attaching:
  - (a) a contact list containing each employee's first name and email address
    - ensuring email addresses are up to date without any duplicates
    - ensuring group emails (i.e. hr@organisation.com) are excluded
  - (b) your customised invitation and reminder text. If you choose to not customise your invitation email, then the standard wording will be used.
- Provide the survey period dates to your IT area and ask them to check for potential issues with your organisation's security protocols. This is to ensure that the invitation and reminder emails from ORIMA are not blocked or treated as spam.
- Test the survey link provided by ORIMA a week before your survey is scheduled to begin. Please check:
  - the survey works in your IT environment; and
  - the survey includes content you expect, including all survey modules and any extra organisational structure and composition questions (note that all responses created during testing will be deleted before your survey starts).
- In the week before the survey period opens, we recommend that the head of your organisation sends an email to inform staff that they will soon receive a survey invitation from ORIMA Research inviting them to participate in the survey.
- On the first day of your survey period ORIMA will automatically send your employees survey invitations. Please check that the invitation email has been sent. If no emails have been received by 4pm contact the VPSC.
- Ensure that employees are advised not to forward their unique survey email link to anyone. This prevents others from accessing their survey responses, if they have not already completed and submitted their survey.
- ORIMA will automatically send a reminder email to all staff whose responses have not been submitted one week after your survey opened. If your survey response rate is low, additional reminders can be requested through the VPSC for a fee of $250 (excluding GST) per round of reminders.

5. ADDITIONAL SURVEY MODULES

In addition to the core survey, six survey modules are offered for organisations that wish to seek more in-depth information on a range of workforce topics. The survey questions for each module will be made available on the VPSC website.

The survey modules selected by your organisation will be shown on the survey portal.

6. PROMOTING THE SURVEY

Promoting the survey to managers and employees will help achieve a high response rate.

We recommend that your organisation formulates a communication strategy to help achieve buy in from executives, line managers and employees. This includes letting employees know how the results will be communicated after the survey.

The following suggestions may be used to help you form an effective promotional campaign and communication strategy.

Before the survey

- Conduct a promotional campaign one to two weeks before your survey is due to start
- Display promotional posters around the workplace. See: <http://vpsc.vic.gov.au/data-and-research/people-matter-survey/>
- Request that your CEO sends a bulletin to all staff endorsing the survey
- Promote the survey on your intranet page. We recommend broadcasting the generic link to the survey (unless you prefer to use personalised survey links only) and utilising the material available within the VPSC website
- Promote anonymity of the survey to encourage participation

During the survey

- Encourage managers to promote participation in the survey
- Encourage people to set 20 to 30 minutes aside to complete the survey
- Offer linked incentives such as a team morning tea following survey completion
- Use 'pop ups' on employees' computers when they log on as a reminder to complete the survey
- Create a friendly competition to see which team can achieve the best survey response rate.

After the survey

- Encourage senior leaders to thank staff for participating in the survey
- Present the results to your employees in a suitable format (audio-visual presentation, email, forum etc.)
- Establish a working group to target a specific theme identified within the survey results, sharing recommendations across the organisation
- Actively engage employees through workshops and planning meetings in developing strategies to address survey results
- Prioritise actions that are achievable and present results in annual reports
- Incorporate actions into strategic, business, divisional, quality, OH&S and HR plans

7. ANONYMITY

Survey anonymity is a priority to the VPSC. Responses from individual employees are kept confidential and strict rules are in place to safeguard this at every stage of the survey process. VPSC is committed to responsible privacy practices and is subject to the Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014 and the Health Records Act 2001.

There are several ways anonymity is protected during and after the survey:

- The VPSC only receives de-identified data from ORIMA. Participant's name, email and computer IP address cannot be collected or tracked by either the VPSC or your organisation. Responses cannot be traced back to participants.
- Individual survey responses will not be provided to your organisation.
- VPSC survey result reports only show summarised results for groups with 10 or more survey responses. For example, if a workgroup has fewer than 10 responses from females, the report will not show the summarised views and opinions of this small group to avoid the potential of identification.
- Participants have the opportunity to write comments at the end of the survey. These free text comments will be supplied to your organisation head via a separate report and not broken down by division, branch and unit. We encourage you to advise participants to avoid including any words that may identify them if they provide comments.

8. MONITORING YOUR RESPONSE RATE

The VPSC recommends that you monitor the response rate frequently during the survey period. You can do this via the survey portal.

The overall response rate provided on your portal uses your organisation's total headcount, as provided in the participation form.

The survey portal also lists the number of responses for nominated employee groups (via organisation structure/composition questions). Therefore you can assess the response rate for each group if you know the total number of staff within each group. The VPSC does not hold headcounts by workgroup, so cannot provide response rates at this level.

A low response rate can be a threat to the accuracy of your results. Whilst your organisation should ideally aim to have a high response rate, the participation of 30% or more of your employees within each employee group, is considered a representative sample of your workforce, enabling your organisation to have statistically reliable results.

The VPSC will not provide reports of results for organisations which achieve response rates of less than 10% and/or fewer than 10 respondents. Employee groups with fewer than 10 respondents will also not receive a report.

9. RESULT REPORTS

Up to four standard reports (Table 2) will be produced after your survey has closed. These will be made available on the VPSC's online storage portal:

https://reports.vpsc.vic.gov.au/Online\_Storage\_Portal/

Nominated report recipients will receive a notification email when the reports are available on the portal. Samples of these reports are available on the VPSC website.

10. FAQ

Question	Answer
Is this survey anonymous?	Survey participant's anonymity is a priority for VPSC. Responses from individual employees are kept confidential and strict rules are in place to safeguard this at every stage of the survey process. Please refer to section 7 of the guide for further information.
Can I receive my organisation's reports in excel?	The organisation results report and employee group reports are available in excel upon request. The benchmark reports are not available in excel as the graphs are not easily transferrable to this format. To request these reports contact the VPSC.
Can I customise the text of the invitation and reminder emails?	Yes you can, subject to approval by the VPSC. Personalising this message (with an encouraging message from your organisation's head), can increase your response rate. Please refer to sections 4 and 12 of this guide for further information.
What is the difference between personalised and generic web based links?	Personalised links to the survey are individual links sent from the external survey contractor to each employee. This link is specific to each email address and can only be submitted once. Generic web based links are open links that can be forwarded to employees and or/placed on your intranet page. Please refer to section 4 of this guide for further information.
Can I offer ideas for enhancements to the survey?	Yes. The VPSC encourages feedback and is committed to the continuous improvement of the survey. Please send us an email if you'd like to provide feedback.
Can I obtain posters to promote the survey?	A soft copy of the People Matter Survey promotional poster is available on our website http://vpsc.vic.gov.au/data-and-research/people-matter-survey/
Can I request paper surveys?	If your organisation would like paper surveys you will need to contact ORIMA directly for a quote. ORIMA will then send you an invoice to settle.
Can participants return to their responses to complete the survey?	If you have requested personalised links to the survey, employees can save and review their responses until they submit their completed survey. If your organisation decides to use a generic link to the survey only, then a password is automatically generated when the link is accessed enabling participants to return to their survey if interrupted.
